The DIMMER VIEW

Seven New Towns Coming Here

Think of it in terms of seven new local communities, each with a population of about 10,000 or more people.

That's exactly what will be situated starting next year, at the doorsteps of Lemon Grove and Spring Valley on the 6,000 acre Rancho San Diego development — just east of here.

Rancho San Diego is made up of the land known previously as the Monte Vista Ranch and later the Sharp Ranch. About a thousand acres of the development is the Fred Hansen Ranch which was once the historic Isham Springs Ranch.

Another 1,100 acres is the Cottonwood property on which there already exists two golf courses.

The total development will be the site of some 25,000 residences built around outdoor recreational facilities to give the true Southern California living concept to the 75,000 or more people who will populate the seven separate communities that will make up the total. 81 holes of golf — 4 1/2 courses — will wind through the project. One course is 27 holes.

Carl Olson, a big, outgoing contractor from Nebraska, is the developer with one of the nation's biggest banks — First National City Bank of New York — in the joint venture.

Olson said Friday, at a luncheon hosted by Fred Hansen, that Rancho San Diego is the most potentially successful project he had ever undertaken. Considering that his firm is one of the nation's largest of its kind, the opinion has great meaning. The parent company bought one of San Diego's largest construction firms a few years back — the F. E. Young Construction Co.

Rancho San Diego stretches from Sweetwater Lake, just south of Spring Valley northerly to the east end of Cottonwood Country Club golf course. The east-west span of the three-by-five miles area is east from Sweetwater Springs Blvd. to a point a couple of miles east of the Sweetwater River bridge.

Fred Hansen, who recently turned a spry and alert 91, acquired the land in 1926. "I rejected many offers by speculators who had only a fast profit as a motive. I waited and waited for a sound developer to come — someone who could give the development the character it deserves. Mr. Olson and his associates met my criteria," Hansen said. "He was the investor I was waiting for. We eventually got together."

Hansen, who led the organization for forming the Spring Valley sewer district over many objections, had revealed at that time a 15-year plan for a residential spa built around the famed springs on his property. The Rancho San Diego people will probably follow some of his plans, he said.

Raleigh Kirkendall, executive vice president of the RSD Development Co. said that the parent firm's operations include Denver, St. Louis, San Mateo in addition to San Diego. He did not argue that the project would involve a billion dollars.

J. E. "Boss" Parsons, the project manager said grading for construction would start in mid-November on the first 200 acres. "Once we start we'll keep right on moving until we're completed," he said.

Rancho San Diego will become the largest development to come within the guidelines of the County General Plan. La Costa, with 4,000 acres is smaller. A 26,000 acre development elsewhere in the county is still in the drawing board stage.

RSD, said C. E. Swanson, chief of the County's Development and Planning Division of the County Planning Department, "pleases us because of the golf course concept. We'd much rather see golf courses along the flood control plain than concrete spillways with construction on the flat areas." The County Master Plan which proposes a more orderly development of the remaining property in the county became effective at the tail end of 1967. RSD's Parsons said that Rancho San Diego will be a Master Planned Community — a plan developed by A. C. Martin Co. of Los Angeles which is one of the biggest architectural firms in the nation. The RSD plans will become part of the County Master Plan, Parsons added.

The development means many things to nearby communities. According to Gale Senora, a member of the Economic Research Bureau of the San Diego Chamber of Commerce, using the Labor Department's criteria on an average southern California resident, the husband of the Rancho San Diego development will earn $10,127 a year.

His wife will be non-working and they'll have an eight-year-old daughter, and a 14-year-old son.

Multiplying the family's income by 22,000 families who will reside there, Rancho San Diego will generate about $200 million as spendable income.

These families will spend:

$48,114,000 for food

$21,318,000 for transportation

$24,146,000 for personal care and clothing

$13,098,000 for medical care

$13,618,000 for other articles for family consumption

$28,336,000 for personal taxes

The rest, we suspect, is spent on frivolities.

If there is but one car to each family, there will be at least 20,000 more cars on the roads between the development and elsewhere. That means a major development need for roads.

The impact of so many new families on present local communities will be dramatic. Few people really appreciate the change that will be wrought.

At Friday's luncheon, we asked Fred Hansen, a man whom we have known for many years, what his next 15 years project would be.

"Reforming you," he snapped at this writer with whom he has had many a friendly verbal tilt.

"And it may take longer," he added.

Second Campus Site Is Step Closer

College District Nears Construction Plan OK

The second in a series of three major hurdles to be cleared before the Grossmont College District will be able to create a second campus was cleared last Wednesday, when the board of governors of the California community colleges approved the purchase of a site and the ten year plan for construction of the campus.

At the 15-member board meeting, held in Los Angeles at the Airport Marina, King Durkee, San Diego, made the motion for approval of the plan, and the board OK'd the purchase of the 165-acre site which includes parts of Monte Vista Ranch, and portions of surrounding areas.

Council Approval
Before negotiations can begin with the owners of the land, however, Superintendent Robert Burnham must get approval from the Coordinating Council for Higher Education. Burnham received the approval of the Department of Finance, the first hurdle, two weeks ago.

If the Coordinating Council OK's the plan, provisions in the Governor's budget will be made. Unless the provisions are cut from the budget, by either the Governor, or legislature, the District can make the actual purchase of the site, and begin execution of the ten-year plan.

1976 Opening
The plan, as it stands at this time, would call for construction to begin in 1975 on the second campus, which would open the campus in 1976 to 5,000 students, or about half of the maximum enrollment of the campus upon completion.

The plan would also call for adding on to the existing campus, extending more classes off-campus, and solutions to the present parking problems. At the existing campus, parking has become a serious problem, as 10,152 students are currently enrolled, and only 3,700 parking spaces are available on campus. Attaining additional parking space has been all but ruled out as a solution to the problem, which is expected to increase next year.

Experimental Program
Presently, an experimental program is underway with the busing of students. In a student poll, the busing idea was a fantastic success, but since the bus line started carrying passengers under the program September 14, buses have been carrying less than full loads.

In the experimentation, Goodall's, the charter line involved, has lost money.

According to Erv Metzgar, president of the college, "The district will have to take aggressive action next year to solve the problem."

Bicycle Racks
Metzgar noted that more bicycle racks will probably be available for ecology-minded students, and that more classes will be offered off campus and evenings, in trying to cope with the problem.

Other possible solutions may include partial district funding to a bus line, so that busing could be available, and lease-parking arrangements.

Metzgar noted that no applications will be refused for enrollment, despite increasing overcrowded conditions.

Model Community
While the Grossmont College District awaits the outcome of the red tape, a model community is being developed on the Monte Vista Ranch.

Developers of the community have made provisions for the second campus, but no negotiations have taken place for the purchase of the land. Contacts have been made," added Metzgar, and Superintendent Robert Burnham has been working for the past year with Harold Hughes on the project, to insure that the property will still be available when approval is secured.

Girls Start Drive For Parade 'Queen'

A bevy of pretty girls will be knocking on doors throughout the Heartland of San Diego beginning Monday.

That's kick-off day for the annual Mother Goose Parade Princess Contest.

Outstanding girls have been nominated as candidates for the Princess title by class and school officers of all eight high schools in the Grossmont High School District, according to contest chairman Thomas D. Murphy, attorney, and a Director of the Mother Goose Parade Association.

The girls will qualify by collecting votes until Oct. 3 by selling Mother Goose Parade window decals. Not only is the Princess title at stake, but also a total of $700 in cash prizes for the sponsoring high schools.

The Parade is November 22.

White Canes To Mark Drive To Aid Blind

Local Lions Club members will be on the streets October 2 and 3 in the group's annual White Cane Days project, according to George Tonner, Lemon Grove chairman of the event. White Cane's objective is aid to the blind.

This year the Lemon Grove club anticipates collecting $1,200 with their cane bedecked coin boxes. These boxes will be displayed in most business organizations during the campaign.

Tonner, associated with the National Steel and Shipbuilding Co., said that more than 40 persons will take part in the distributing and collecting phases of the event.

Proceeds from the local drive are used to keep up a Sight Room at Grossmont hospital.

The local club also supports the Recreation Center for the Blind, and the Sight Preservation Clinic, both in San Diego. Members of the Lemon Grove club have raised more than $11,000 since 1951 when the project was embraced.

Last year funds were supplied to a youngster of a Lemon Grove needy family for restoring his vision via optometric aid. Lions Club President Fred Dixon said.

Governor R. Reagan and S.D. City Mayor Frank Curran have proclaimed White Cane Days Sept. 28 - Oct. 3. 100% of all funds collected goes directly to blind aid.

LG Fire Report

Six calls kept the rescue team of the Lemon Grove Fire Department busy the week of Sept. 14-21.

Sept. 16, there were two calls: At 9:57 a.m. the rescue team went to 2245 McKnight st. There 2-year old Daniel Carr was having trouble breathing and rescuers gave him mouth-to-mouth resuscitation, heart massage and oxygen, then sent him to Grossmont.

A late report was that the boy was dead on arrival at the hospital. The second call was at noon from the Cresta Loma Rest Home. Mrs. Pearl Lynn, 80, was ill and sent to Grossmont.

Edward Weimer, 66, of 1906 Englewood, was dead on arrival at a hospital on Sept. 19. Also on Sept. 19 at 12:42 p.m. rescuers went to 1534 San Alitos pd., where Thelma Evans, 50, of San Diego, had suffered a possible heart attack. On a doctor's orders, she was not moved.

The same day, at 2 p.m.,

Parking Banned On Mass. Ave.

SAN DIEGO (CNA) — County supervisors on Tuesday took the unpopular move of banning curbside parking on Massachusetts ave. in Lemon Grove for 350 feet on both sides of Mt. Vernon st.

The board acted upon the recommendation of the traffic advisory committee which said the intersection has had a high accident rate with 18 accidents, 11 with injuries, since Massachusetts was reconstructed to four lanes in 1968.

The ban will allow the county to install left turn pockets. Signal lights are scheduled during the next fiscal year.

Of thirteen inquiries mailed to affect property owners, seven of the nine replies expressed disfavor.

However, the committee recommended the board action anyway.

Learn Spanish the Easy Way

Hardison's Telespanish

By JAMES HARDISON

How does one say "It's clear" in Spanish? Is there any way to distinguish between "It's clear" and "It's clearer" in conversation? "Claro" means "clear." We may say "Es claro" for "It's clear." To form the comparative we add "mas" (more) to the phrase resulting in "Es mas claro" for "It's clearer," which may also be translated as "It's more clear."

"Es el mas claro" means "It's the clearest." This is an example of the superlative form and included "el mas" for "the most."

Another example of a positive, comparative, and superlative, may be seen with "cerca" which means "near." "Es cerca" (It's near) is the positive form. The comparative may be seen in "Es mas cerca" for "It's nearer." The superlative is represented in "Es la mas cerca" for "It's the nearest."

Many times the base word is changed entirely when converting from the positive to the comparative or superlative. In the case of "bueno" (good), the form is changed to "mejor" for "better" and "el mejor" for "the best." Also "malo" (bad) is converted to "peor" for "worse" and "el peor" for "the worst." In phrase form they are "Es malo" for "It's bad," and "Es peor" for "It's worse." The superlative is "Es el peor" for "It's the worst."

See how easy it will be for you to learn the practical phrases that appear below. You may wish to practice saying them with the recorded voice that says them for you automatically when you dial 276-2762 on your telephone. The voice will say each word and phrase providing a pause for you to attempt saying the same words and phrases. Try it now.

farewell column to his readers.

THE END OF A CAREER

This my last message to my readers. Mrs. Graham and I have sold the REVIEW.

After 55 years in the printing business I have found that ill health forces me to retire. It was with extreme regret that my wife and I had to come to that decision.

I started in the business in 1896 when I was nine years old and have never made $10 in my life except in my chosen profession.

I retired, in 1945 at Rosemead but the smell of printer's ink was too strong so I returned to the printing business in Lemon Grove in 1949.

My years in the newspaper business have been happy ones. It was the work that I loved, and in my newspapering I have never sought riches, but an opportunity to serve my fellow men. I have always published newspapers in the best towns in the world. Every community in which I lived was the best community on earth.

I have always tried to serve my community first, and my newspapers were always more interested in that place than any other.

Newspapering has come a long way since I first sat on a high stool in an upstairs printing office and set type by hand.

Tramp Printer

I have had my experiences with tramp printers. As a rule they were as intelligent a group of men as you would care to meet, and they would tell stories by the hour to anybody that would listen. But they never failed to warn a kid against the life of a tramp printer. They would appear regularly about the same time each year; some of them would stay but a few days; long enough to get a few dollars for a binge, then hit the ties for other fields.

Printers, in those days as a general thing were not of the best repute; mostly drunks.

Even the editor in the town where I was raised was a periodic drunk. I saw so much of the evils of drink in my younger days that I vowed as a kid I would never touch the stuff. And to this day I have yet to hear one valid reason for liquor.

Now that I am reaching the end of my career as a printer and newspaper publisher, it is with a touch of sadness that I am finally forced to give up my chosen profession. I have made many friends through the years, both among newspaper people, and others with which my career has brought me in contact.

To the fine people of Lemon Grove I want to say that I have never lived in a community where I have been more happy. It has been a pleasure serving you. Your treatment to me and my wife has exceeded our fondest hopes and expectations when we came here in June, 1949.

God Bless You All.
G. Ray Graham.

63 Graduate Grossmont Vocational Nurse Class

Sixty-three students have been graduated from the Grossmont High School District's vocational nursing class. The ceremonies were held this past week at the Student Center at Grossmont Community College.

The students are now all qualified to become licensed vocational nurses.

According to Mrs. Ellen Abbott, coordinator of Health Occupations, this class began last September with about 100 students. Of the 63 remaining in the class, two were men and 61 were women, and a husband and wife team was included. The students ranged in age from 17 to 55.

The students had clinical experience for four hours a day, five days a week and attended two and one half hours of class lectures four days a week.

Graduation night was set by the Grossmont Union High School District's Governing Board. In a resolution the Board praised Dr. Frank for his "significant role in the vocational nursing program."

Dr. Frank lectures and counsels students in the program and provides pre-entrance physical examinations to incoming students. He has been involved in this capacity since the program began in 1957.

The resolution in part stated, "The Grossmont Union High School District's Governing Board is publicly recognizing his continuous contribution since February, 1957 as humanitarian, physician, and educator to the Grossmont vocational nursing program."

The student body of the vocational nursing program elect officers and are involved in many extracurricular activities, such as explaining vocational nursing to other groups, special projects such as food and clothing drives, social activities, and workshops.

The cost for the course is $125. Most of this goes for uniforms, shoes, books and a special watch. Many of the students are married and many have part-time jobs. Classes are held at the Grossmont School of Vocational Nurses, 5345 Timken st., in La Mesa.

S.V. Welfare Group Ends Thrift Shop

At the Sept. 21 meeting of the Spring Valley Community Welfare Inc., it was voted to close the "Thrift" Shop on Sweetwater rd., beginning the first of Nov., due to high rent.

However, the organization will continue to meet each month in various homes in the area. At the May meeting, there will be a review of the local Welfare program.

President Mrs. Lillian Duncan, says there are two important dates to remember regarding the Spring Valley Welfare: Oct. 14-16, the annual Clothing Drive; and Oct. 23-24, the Thrift Shop Rummage Sale.

These two events are two of the several ways in which the organization helps the needy of the area, and provides scholarships and campships for worthy students of the Valley. The Rummage Sale also enhances the funds for the annual Holiday baskets.

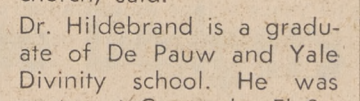

Mrs. Duncan said if anyone is in need of sickroom supplies, to get in touch with Mrs. Oliverio at 463-2908. Still to be discussed further is the annual "Scholarship" luncheon, to be held next spring.

Registration for the workshop begins at 8:30 p.m., with the actual activities getting underway at 9 p.m. A 50c service charge will be in effect.

Women attending are asked to bring the following items: Small glue, 3 marbles or beads, 14 golf tees, brace and 1/4 inch bit, stapler, felt pen, 1 gal. bleach bottle, scrap of material 12" x 24", one pair of 36" shoe strings, large nail, needle and thread, paper towel or toilet tissue tube, scotch or masking tape, scissors, 2 pipe cleaners and a coffee cup.

The workshop is designed to give den mothers and Scout leaders ideas for crafts and programs for use at den meetings for the next two months. There will be plenty of door prizes, according to Wanda Scheppman, of the district workshop staff.

Mt. Miguel

With over 3000 students on double sessions at Mt. Miguel High School, the Mt. Miguel PTA has had a busy September. PTA members were on hand the first day of school assisting with scheduling and giving directions to classes. On September 11, the PTA Board welcomed the Mt. Miguel teachers and staff with a salad luncheon.

President of the Mt. Miguel PTA this school year, serving a second term, is Mrs. Robert Littrell. She is assisted on the Executive Board by 42 other teachers and parents.

Because of the double sessions, a new committee was formed this year to help parents coordinate transporting the students. Mrs. William Trask, 463-6592, and Mrs. Roger Wilson, 466-1670, may be called for persons interested in car pools.

Mt. Miguel PTA sponsors grade level meetings throughout the school year. Sophomore parents are invited October 6 to meet with counselors and administrative staff members in the school cafeteria at 7:30 p.m.

The "Miguel Mike", edited and mailed into each home by the PTA, is another service in keeping parents and students informed.

Mount Vernon

A calendar of events which includes such varied activities as a pot luck dinner, discussions of today's youth, Halween Carnival and a fashion show has been drawn at the first meeting of the 1970-71 Mt. Vernon Elementary School PTA board.

Attempting to atune itself with the current school situation, much of the board's efforts this year are to be directed toward establishing a stronger link among students, parents, teachers and administration.

This work is to be in the form of study in the direction of an expanded library and closer assistance with teachers to provide more individual student education.

The initial school activity will be a pot luck dinner in the school auditorium next month. At that time, teachers and staff are to be introduced and class orientation for parents is scheduled.

CDO Elementary

Casa de Oro PTA held its first executive board meeting under the direction of Mrs. W. D. Gillaspay, PTA president, Sept. 15, to approve the budget for the coming year and to discuss plans for the forthcoming Halloween Carnival which will be held October 31, from 3:30 to 7:30 p.m.

EUGENE L. CLINE, of 1533 Primera st., Lemon Grove, won $495 recently for a suggestion that will save the Navy an estimated $9,000. Cline is with the Navy Public Works Center in the Utilities Department.

With the theme for the program "Hey Look Me Over," teachers will introduce songs written by the school staff.

Helix High

The Helix High PTA will hold the first board meeting of the school year Monday, in the school's library at 7 p.m. Plans for the year will be discussed by the president, Mrs. Dorothy Young, and members of the board.

Heroin - Most Addictive Narcotic Known To Man

Heroin is the most addictive drug, and certainly one of the most debilitating narcotic known to man. It is a very powerful depressant to the central nervous system. Users rapidly develop strong psychological and physiological dependence. Some users have become addicted from only one dose — and many others have died from one overdose.

Addiction is spreading like cancer, with a responsibility San Francisco agency estimating there may be 300,000 heroin addicts in California alone. Users as young as 10 years of age have been arrested, and the National Institute of Mental Health says that over half of all addicts are under 30.

Other research (New York Social Service Dept.) indicates that 25% to 50% of today's teenagers have used marijuana, and in a terrifying acceleration of abuse that 40% to 50% of regular teenage marijuana smokers will "progress" to heroin within 18 months!

The drug is one of 25 alkaloids found in opium, the chief ingredient being morphine, which was widely used as a pain-killer during the 19th century. Due to an acute shortage of doctors during the Civil War, newly developed hypodermic needles and drugs were issued directly to the soldiers, many of whom became addicted to morphine.

This narcotic was freely used in the field and available then at low cost at drugstores, without prescription. Due to this ready availability, there were more addicts per thousand population during and after the Civil War; than at any other time in America's history!

In 1898, a German scientist produced heroin from morphine. At first it was thought that heroin would replace morphine as a pain-killer, and that it could be used to treat addiction.

But it was soon found to be our times more powerful than morphine, and much more addictive. Finally, in 1914, the United States Government adopted the Harrison Narcotics Act, outlawing manufacture, use and possession of heroin within the United States.

The narcotic is so powerful it must be cut 97% to 99% with powdered milk-sugar, talcum powder or any other cheap, whitish powder. But should the user get a bag of pure heroin by mistake, the overdose will invariably kill him.

When the effects of the drug begin to wear off, withdrawal symptoms set in, described by addicts generally as "going through one hell after another". To maintain their "highs", some addicts are known to have taken as many as 100 "pops" a day, although five to 20 are more usual.

"Pops" are injected into the flesh or muscles, with "mainlining" or injecting heroin into the veins the method most commonly used.

When the veins break down, as they soon do, the unhappy user is forced to inject the narcotic between his fingers, toes, into his legs and neck, and even inside the mouth!

There is no satisfactory, provable cure for permanent heroin addiction. Doctors can help the user get off the drug and restore his health to some extent, but under the best of circumstances, it has been found almost impossible to keep him from picking up the habit again.

Drug-taking may have become his way of life... his friends may be fellow-addicts... he may not have a healthy enough personality to enjoy normal, constructive pursuits. He is, and remains, a mental and emotional cripple!

Many people have great hopes for the methadone treatment for heroin addiction. The use of methadone, which is cheap or free, can perhaps make some inoperative people partially operative again... but basically it substitutes one addiction for another. Methadone at best is a crutch, and people depending on it as a cure tend to go on to more addiction.

Another form of treatment involves "cold turkey" complete withdrawal coupled with group therapy of sensitivity sessions aimed at "brainwashing" the user and reorienting his values. While the approach may appear in theory to have some merit, few graduates of these treatments are known to have returned to productive roles in normal society.

More emphasis should be placed on prevention so that the need for rehabilitation methods of doubtful effectiveness can be reduced to a minimum.

S.D.S.C. Plans Extension Class At Grossmont

Reform in education, woman liberation, the blacks and the browns and drug abuse are among the issues to be discussed in a new San Diego State Extension class, "The New Generation," beginning this week at Grossmont College.

Dr. Doris A. Meek, an associate professor at San Diego State, and Elv Metzgar, president of Grossmont College, will coordinate the course.

The course, designed for teachers, counselors, social workers and clergy, meets Thursday at 7 p.m. in Room 346, Grossmont College.

Late registration is extended to October 7 and college credit is given. A fee of $30 is charged for the two-unit course.

Competition Opens For State Grants

The State Scholarship and Loan Commission last week officially announced the opening of competition for State Scholarships for the 1971-72 college year.

Approximately 21,560 will be available for the academic year. Approximately 9,300 will be available for new winners; the remainder represent renewals to presently enrolled State Scholarship winners.

Dr. Charles J. Dirksen, Sr., Chairman of the State Scholarship and Loan Commission, estimates that more than 35,000 high school seniors and college students will enter this fifteenth competition for State Scholarship awards which may be used for tuition and fees at California colleges.

The maximum award is $2,000 per year. The amount determined by formula and by the student's need for financial assistance is never to exceed tuition and fees.

Application forms, bulletins, and informational materials were this week distributed to approximately 1,250 secondary schools and colleges throughout the State. Counselors will assist students in preparing the necessary applications which must be postmarked by midnight, December 3.

Film Series To Continue At College

Grossmont College will continue its Fall film series when "Barefoot in the Park," is screened at 7:30 p.m. tonight in the Fine Arts Lecture Hall.

"Barefoot in the Park," a light comedy adapted from Neil Simon's Broadway play, stars Robert Redford, Jane Fonda and Charles Boyer. The comedy is the story of newlyweds Fonda and Redford, and their trials and tribulations in setting up housekeeping. This very human story makes the most witty dialog.

The public is invited to attend. The price of admission is 50 cents.

Sammy Davis To Appear At S.D. Convention Hall

By Lynn Jones

Sammy Davis Jr., "The World's Most Complete Entertainer," is to appear Saturday, at 7:45 p.m. in the San Diego Convention Hall.

Davis, who has sung, has danced, has acted and has even produced movies, will make one of his few concert appearances on the concert tour.

Davis, in recent months, has made appearances in "Mod Squad," "Laugh-In" and "The Hollywood Palace." He also can be seen around town in the movie, "One More Time," a film that is being distributed by Tracemark Productions, his own film company.

For the show, he will be accompanied by a 16-piece orchestra conducted by George Rhodes. Also on the bill is comedian Jimmy Rogers and the Sammy Davis dancers.

Tickets are available at the Civic Theatre Box Office, all Metro Ticket Agencies, and the Highlander Men's Stores.

America's award winning musical "1776" will open, running through September 29, at the Civic Theatre. The curtain time will be 8:30 p.m., with matinees at 2:30 p.m. today, Saturday, and Sunday.

The historical facts surrounding the events of the American Revolution have taken on a legendary glow and the figures involved have assumed a stately pomposity that could easily be considered humanly impossible.

Author Peter Stone has taken a funny look at the characters of this time. He has made Ben Franklin a sleeper. Thomas Jefferson has the mental task of presenting the daily weather report to the Congress.

The national touring company version of the show which received both the Tony and New York Drama Critics' Circle awards as the best musical of 1968-1969 will feature Rex Everhart in the original Ben Franklin role that he created on Broadway.

Patrick Bedford, an Irish actor, will appear as John Adams. John Dickinson, the conservative delegate from Pennsylvania, will be played by George Hearn.

"The Cave Dwellers" a William Saroyan play will be presented by the Actors Quarter, 480 Elm St., at 8:30 p.m. Fridays and Saturday through October 24. The cast includes Kathryn Hayes and Vanine Lowe.

Spring Valley, La Mesa Men Appointed Associate Deans At State College

A Spring Valley man and a La Mesa man, both professors at San Diego State College, have been appointed associate deans at the school, according to Donald E. Walker, vice president for academic affairs.

Dr. George C. Gross, of Spring Valley, will become associate dean for faculty personnel, while Dr. Harry Rujia becomes associate dean for curriculum.

Rujia has been active in the faculty senate as parliamentarian and senator. An authority on the life and thought of Bertrand Russell, Rujia has taught in the field of philosophy at San Diego State since 1947.

He completed his Ph.D. degree at Princeton University. In his new position he will coordinate educational requirements and changes in the campus curriculum.

Better Environments Make Bigger Brains In Rat Experiments

Mice exposed to enriched environments in early life develop bigger-than-usual brains.

At the University of California, Dr. David Krech tested the theory with two groups of rats. One was given "the best and most expensive supervised higher education available to any young rat." This group got plenty of attention and new learning experiences. A second group was more isolated.

After two months, both groups were sacrificed. The first group had brains with a heavier and thicker cortex, a better blood supply, larger cells, and more active enzymes.

Another pair of California researchers have found that infant mice have a greater supply of synapses — bridges connecting nerve impulses — if they are handled a great deal and exposed to all sorts of stimuli such as flashing lights and noises. The effects of early stimulation exert a strong influence on the rate of future learning and the so-called higher mental activities, including memory.

Experiment with human babies also show that they learn much faster if given early stimulation and experiences. All parents may be able to help shape better brains for their babies.

Local CC Teams Are Tops

Matadors, Monarchs, Highlanders To Vie For Grossmont Loop Title

Spring Valley and Lemon Grove have been for many years known for some of the best cross country runners in the San Diego area, but the 1970 cross country teams in the area could be the best ever.

Mount Miguel, expected by most to take the Grossmont League title, and possibly the San Diego CIF championship as well, will be the team to watch this year, and could be even better than most fans think.

Monte Vista, always a threat, and often the top team in the county, fields another fine team this year, and should do no worse than third this season, and could be right up there with Miguel at the top of the heap.

Helix, last year's CIF champ, has three returnees from last year, and figures to be fighting it out for the top spot, depending on how well senior Ed Mendoza comes back from leg injuries.

Mount Miguel has Joe Stubbs, coming off a great season last year, and Bob Morrison, who ran with the varsity crew as a freshman, but had a disappointing year as a sophomore and hopes to bounce back.

Backing up the best one-two punch in the league, the Matadors have John Heimaster, Jim Jones, and Joe Badger. Heimaster, also a great long jumper during track season, could group together with Stubbs and Morrison to provide a knockout punch that would send Miguel to an undefeated year, and Jones will also be real tough.

Stubbs and Morrison, both juniors, could develop into the two best runners in the league, and that includes Ed Mendoza, who was the tops in the league last year as a junior.

Meanwhile, at Monte Vista, three-year letterman Tom Lux is back to lead a fine nucleus of talent, including lettermen Chris Longley and Rick Duenes, along with Gary Close.

Lux and Close is the Monarch version of the ol' one-two, but getting the grouping necessary for a league title will create problems at Monte Vista, as preliminary time trials indicate a big gap between second place and third.

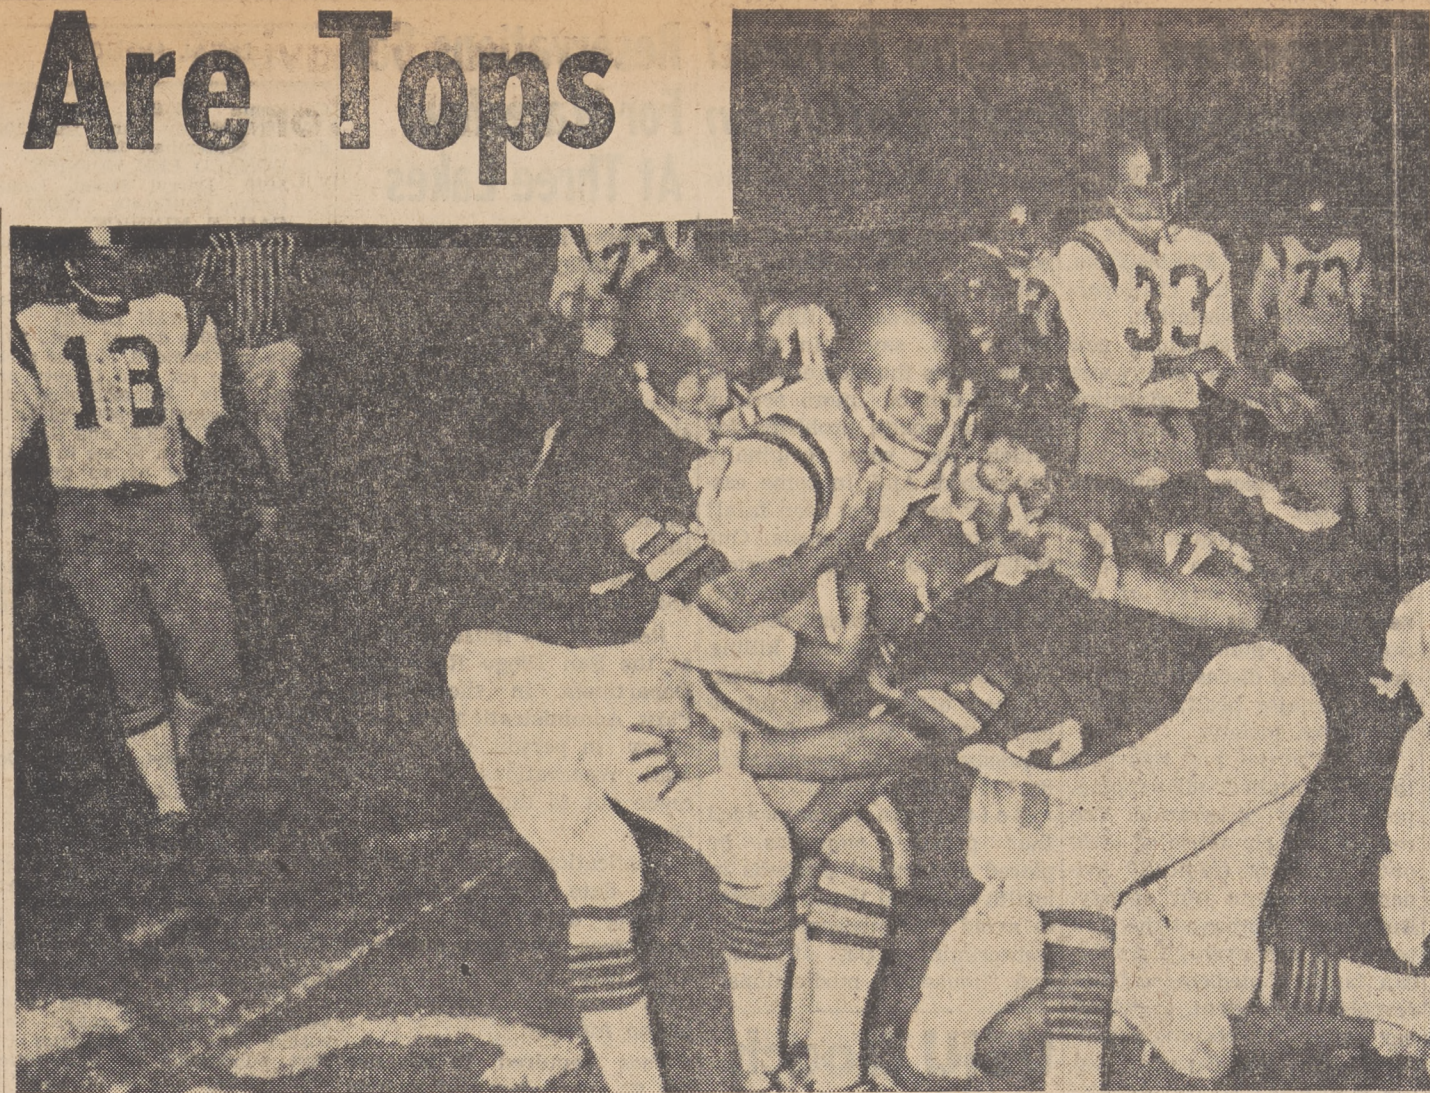

With a little work, Longley, Duenes, Tom Simms and Mike Stewart could help close the gap and provide the Monarchs with a class team.

At Helix High School, Coach Mike Muirhead is developing sore prayer bones hoping for a quick recovery of his top runner, Ed Mendoza, who has had problems with his legs and may have to sit out the non-league season.

Muirhead has a good group, however, with junior Tom Meads, senior Bob Bishop, also an excellent half-miler, and a couple of sophomores, Dan Jones, Dave Frye, and Mark Semansin.

If Mendoza gets into shape, Helix could be a rough team to deal with.

The total outlook in the league should put Mount Miguel on top, with Monte Vista second, Helix third, El Cajon Valley fourth, El Capitan and Santana slugging it out for fifth, and Granite Hills and Grossmont trying to stay out of the cellar.

GOAL LINE STAND — Mount Miguel High School's football team is, in Coach Ben Cipranic's words, "small, but slow", but the defense showed promise in the football carnival, fighting off a rugged El Capitan drive that ended on the Miguel 7-yard stripe.

Rockets Game To Aid U.S. War Prisoners

SAN DIEGO — The San Diego Rockets will dedicate their 1970 National Basketball Association home opener, Tuesday, October 20, to the nearly 1,600 U. S. prisoners and missing in Southeast Asia.

The Rockets will play the Phoenix Suns that night starting at 8 p.m. at the San Diego Sports Arena.

Part of the proceeds from the contest will go to Concern for Prisoners of War, Inc., a San Diego based, non-profit corporation whose goal is to get the North Vietnamese to conform to the 1949 Geneva Convention in treatment of captured Americans.

Joe McCain, vice president of the group, said the money earned from the game will pay for trips with mail and petitions to Vientiane, Laos and Europe.

McCain, whose brother has been a prisoner since 1967, said the Rockets are providing the corporation with 5,000 tickets priced at $4 and $3. The profit from the sale will go to the corporation.

"Our treasury now has less than $200 in it," said McCain, "so you can see what a miracle this is for us."

"This is a tremendous gesture on the Rockets' part," said Navy Lt. Robert Frishman, who, until released last year, had spent two years in prison camps — an ordeal through which he lost 50 pounds and the proper use of his right arm. Frishman is the

Padres To Wrap Up Season With 3-Game Dodgers' Series

SAN DIEGO — There are several individual goals within reach of several Padres when the club concludes the 1970 season with a three-game series with Los Angeles at the Stadium starting Tuesday.

Night games at 7:30 are booked Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday against the Dodgers, who are involved in a wild scramble for second place in the National League's west division.

Thursday, the final game of the season, has been named Fan Appreciation Night. The Padres that evening will award a 1971 automobile and a new speedboat to two lucky fans.

As a team, the Padres will seek to sweep the three games and even the year's series with the Dodgers. San Diego's six wins over Los Angeles so far this season equals last year's total wins against that club, which included a four-game sweep in September.

"Three straight over L.A. would be a swell way to end the season," said manager Preston Gomez.

The Padres also have an opportunity to make September their most successful month in the team's two year history. The team won 15 games last May, the high one-month total, but is approaching that record this month.

And, of course, every victory establishes a new season high over last year's 52 total wins.

Also, there are several individual goals within grasp. Olie Brown is flirting with a magic .300 batting average for the year. Nate Colbert is banging away at a new club home mark. Clarence Gaston, already assured of concluding with a .300 average, is approaching a 30-homer season.

Pitcher Clay Kirby, now in double figures in the win column, has a dozen victories within sight. So does Danny Coombs.

So there's plenty to cheer about as the Padres wind up their season against the Dodgers.

Tickets for the Dodger games are on sale at the Padres offices at the stadium by telephone, 283-4494, or at Ticketron outlets located throughout San Diego County.

Chargers To Host Lamonica; Gird for Sunday Air Attack

Goodbye Johnny Unitas. Hello Daryle Lamonica. There is no respite for the intrepid defense of the San Diego Chargers this week.

Having succumbed to that old black final-minute magic of Unitas and the Baltimore Colts, the Chargers (0-1) are braced for the poisoned darts of Lamonica and the Oakland Raiders (0-1) at San Diego Stadium Sunday. Kickoff is 1 p.m.

Grossmont High School's prize-winning marching band will present pre-game and halftime entertainment. The post-game Pop Warner contest is between the Clairemont Apaches and Point Loma Bulldogs.

The Chargers remember Lamonica with anguish. It was the rifle-armed Raider from Fresno who ruined the debut of Coach Charlie Waller with an 80-yard bomb in the final four minutes at Oakland last year (21-16). Although San Diego leads the California Civil War series, 11-9, it has beaten Oakland only once in the last three years.

To prepare for Lamonica, the Chargers tangled with Unitas before 47,782 at San Di-

SDS Runners Prepare For Occidental

San Diego State's cross country team heads into its third week of competition as it prepares for this Saturday's Occidental Invitational.

Hosted by Occidental College in Los Angeles, the race will be run on a hilly five-mile course. This is the first time the Aztecs have competed in the event as in the past they have run in the Whittier Invitational.

John Jacobsen's second place finish was one of the bright spots in San Diego State's third-place ranking in last weekend's Long Beach Invitational.

Jacobsen, running for the Aztec "B" team, covered the five mile course in 25:27.

"Jacobsen ran the best cross country race of his life," said Aztec coach Tony Succi. "Matter of fact, he probably ran a better race than when he won the CIF two-mile championship for San Diego High. John out kicked two men at the finish and was driving hard."

Otis Martin, who figures to be the Aztecs number one runner, did not compete due to a bad knee. "Otis has been working out 25-30 minutes a day and we hope the knee will be ready for Oxy on Saturday," Succi said. "Since the course is hilly we may let Otis start with instructions to drop out if the knee is bothering him."

Henry Aaron, of the Atlanta Braves, became the first major league player to obtain 500 home runs and 3,000 hits.

Looked Nervous

The Monarchs, who appeared to be a bit nervous as they took on the league favorites, couldn't move the ball early in the quarter, but showed promise once they got warmed up.

The Monarchs could turn out to be the dark horse favorites in the Grossmont League, and should do no worse than third.

Opening the second quarter, Granite Hills QB Bob Thompson fired a 61-yd. touchdown pass to end Mike Ortega. However, El Cajon came back to score and the halftime tally was 13-8.

In the third period, Santana High, with a ready offense, and a fair defense took on highly touted Helix, and outscored the Highlanders 13-0.

Mistakes Costly

Helix, one of the perennially tough teams of the Grossmont League, made costly mistakes, and was unable to move the ball well enough to bring a threat to the surprising Sultans.

Holes in the Highlander defense made matters worse, as Sanana scored seemingly at will against the Highlanders.

Going into the fourth quarter the East led 26-8 and the heavily favored Vaqueros with highly touted running back Bill Fudge looked unbeatable.

Penalties

The Matadors began their attack and were forced to punt as penalties kept them back deep in their own territory.

El Cap then scored on twenty-three yd. TD to make it East 32, West, 8. Miguel attempted a comeback but numerous penalties and two fumbles and an interception late in the quarter, kept them from scoring.

El Cap scored again on a 22 yd. end around by quarterback Tom Lockhart near the end of the game.

Bright Spot

The Matador offense looked sluggish but there were some bright spots. The offensive and defensive lines held up

Rockets Leave For Hawaii

A 12-man squad accompanied San Diego Rocket coach Alex Hannum and general manager Pete Newell to Honolulu where the Rockets open their pre-season schedule tonight against the Los Angeles Lakers. The team is center Elvin Hayes, forwards John Block, Toby Kimball, John Trapp, Curtis Perry, Rudy Tomjanovich and Don Adams and guards Stu Lantz, Larry Siegfried, Bernie Williams, Calvin Murphy and Jody Finney.

The San Diegans will wind up the five day trip to the islands Saturday when they meet Lew Alcindor and the Milwaukee Bucks.

They return to San Diego Sunday night to prepare for a bout in Los Angeles Tuesday against the San Francisco Warriors.

Smilin' Ed Bests Bullen, Leads Points

Smilin' Ed Hale, of Lemon Grove, set fast qualifying time and came from fifteenth starting position to win the 30-lap main event for super stocks last Saturday night at Cajon Speedway.

The main event started with a wild bit of action, as Bill Butts, Bucky Peralta, and Richard White tangled on the first lap, causing the caution flag to come out. Al McBride jumped into the lead after the green fell, and held the lead for nine laps.

Peralta took over the lead at that time, and held on until the 24th lap, when Charlie Brown lost a wheel. On the restart, Smilin' Ed grabbed first place, and made it to the finish line 200 yards in front of second-place Jim Osborne, of Brookside.

After Hale had taken the checkered flag, Russ Bullen, who is second in the point standings, spun out on the last turn, and couldn't make it to the finish line.

The win for Hale was his eighth of the year, and his fifth in the last six races. Bullen's spinout caused him to drop 490 points behind the Lemon Grove driver in the race for the point championship.

Spring Valley's Pat McIntyre moved back into fourth place in the standings, as Jim Hitt, of Lemon Grove, was an accident victim.

More racing action is on tap this weekend, as Hale and Bullen bash fenders in the main event, and Pat McIntyre and Hitt fight it out for fourth place. Qualifying is at 6:30 p.m., with the first race underway at 8 p.m.

THE PHONE BOOTH

Iron + Tin + Zinc = Beige. If you have a beige telephone, that's the formula used to make it that color. And these aren't all the elements it contains. Your standard phone has 42 of the 104 known chemical elements, ranging from precious metals like gold, silver and platinum (in tiny amounts for electrical contacts) to more plentiful copper, iron and lead.

The elements are in chemical compounds — such as the hydrogen and carbon that form the plastic housing of your phone. That's the formula for your basic black set. And making telephones other colors is not achieved by painting them. Adding mercury to the compound makes them red. Cadmium makes them yellow, and chromium, green.

State Gridders To Entertain Cal State Team

San Diego State will open defense of its Pacific Coast Athletic Association title this Saturday, as it hosts Cal State Los Angeles.

The Aztecs and Diablos will collide in San Diego Stadium with kickoff set for 8 p.m.

"We really don't know that much about Cal State LA," confesses head coach Don Coryell. "They've got a new coaching staff headed by Bob Enger who's accustomed to success so I'm sure they'll be a vastly improved ball club."

Coach Coryell's Aztecs will be out to maintain a 24-game unbeaten string which includes 14 consecutive victories. In addition, State will be out to keep its undefeated PCAA string intact (they won all six conference outings in 1969) to say nothing of a four-game streak against the Diablos.

San Diego State will take a 2-0 record into the fray while Cal State LA will come in at 0-1. The Aztecs traveled to Texas last week and came home with a 23-0 win over North Texas State. Cal State LA didn't fare quite as well, though, as the Diablos dropped a 33-0 decision to North Arizona on the road.

The Aztecs lead the series between the two squads 10-5 with one draw. The Montezumas have won the last four outings including a 49-0 decision last season.

State is currently working on a string of 48-1 dating back to mid-1965. In fact, the string all started after a 26-12 loss to Cal State LA.

The SDS defense turned in a tremendous performance against North Texas State as it held the Eagles to 59 yards total offense.

Unneeded Medicine Termed Unnecessary Body Pollution

Americans by the tens of millions are polluting their own bodies, warns Robert B. Botterman of Chula Vista, president of the California Chiropractic Association.

"Instituting sweeping new programs of air and water pollution without educating the public to the hazards of body pollution solves only half the problem," maintains Botterman.

He says Americans are poisoning themselves each day through direct intake of unnecessary drugs and medications and pointed out that drug-induced diseases have become a major health problem in modern society.

"And I'm not just referring to the so-called pill-popping, pot-smoking generation. The results of their abuse of their own bodies is tragically evident throughout our society. But a quick glance at the contents of the average American family's medicine cabinet reveals the extent to which our nation has become dependent upon pills, capsules and tonics of every conceivable description for every conceivable purpose. "Reckless or uninformed prescriptions and negligence by patients have created an entirely new breed of illnesses," Botterman says. "In fact, in many cases the side effects of drugs can be more serious than the health problems for which they were originally prescribed. And, in some cases, they have even been fatal!" "Drugs are chemicals. Our bodies cannot handle chemical pollution — be it from air, water or unnecessary medication. We are not only killing ourselves, but are also making our offspring and future generations suffer for our carelessness and irresponsibility."

Botterman recommended that greater emphasis be placed on natural methods in health care and urged parents to avoid the unnecessary and indiscriminate use of drugs and "household medications."

Skin, Scuba Diving Can Be Hazardous

In recent years, skin diving and scuba diving have won enthusiastic followers in California. To a limited extent, underwater exploration is an occupational activity, but most participants engage in it for recreation, adventure, and the conquest of new skills. And, like most adventurous activities, it carries with it certain risks.

Skin divers rely for their air supply either on their own lungs or on air brought from the surface through a snorkel tube. Scuba diving, potentially a much more hazardous activity, involves carrying your own air supply.

The essential precautions which any scuba diver must observe are that he have the proper equipment, that his equipment be inspected regularly, and that he be properly trained — preferably first in skin diving before he undertakes scuba. It is considered extremely unwise ever to engage in any underwater activities as a solo venture. The so-called "buddy" system in which divers operate in pairs, each one assuming responsibility for the other, can reduce many of the hazards, particularly those which result from panic and exhaustion.

Drowning, the most common cause of death in scuba diving, sometimes occurs because the diver has overestimated his capacity to navigate distances or has become entangled in kelp. Other mishaps, not always fatal, include the "squeeze" and the "bends."

The seminar is free to all adult members of the "Y"; call 466-4161 for more information.

Tax Tales

For many years the Tax Court has been less than willing to allow a deduction for activities such as golf or dancing lessons, as medical expenses, even though prescribed by a doctor. The Court has held that such pursuits are personal expenses.

But recently the tribunal accepted ordinary driving costs as a deduction in a case involving a woman who had been mutilated in an accident.

The taxpayer's physician had told her to drive in order to reduce fears born of the accident. The Court was willing to allow all the driving she did directly to alleviate her mental condition; they drew the line, however, when she attempted to deduct the cost of her automobile.

A remedy for headaches, practiced years ago, called for eating nine lice on buttered bread, reported Drug Topics.

Crusade Aid To Grove Substantial Says Ritenour

Lemon Grove residents receive the vital multi services of voluntary organizations, only because of contributions to the annual United Crusade which will kick-off this year on September 30.

According to Lemon Grove United Crusade chairman John Ritenour: "United Crusade agencies help in programs that are obvious and subtle . . . traditional and innovative . . . immediate and long range. The help is warm and personal because it is provided by people who know our community best — people in our community. Lemon Grove is a better place because you and your neighbors support the United Crusade." The impact of many United Crusade services in Lemon Grove last year is best visualized by the following documented figures.

American National Red Cross served 513 civilian individuals and families of Lemon Grove. Bayside Settlement House served 31 individuals and families. Big Sister League offered 12 days' care to local girls. Boy Scouts had 1023 youths and adults enrolled. Boys' and Girls' Aid Society gave 8 days' care to local youth. Camp Fire Girls had a local enrollment of 128. Catholic Family Service served 12 individuals and families. Child Guidance Clinic gave 114 interviews. School Lunch Aid Program To Aid Needy Families

Free or reduced price school luncheons are programmed at Lemon Grove public schools this year, Byron Netzeley, district superintendent said this week.

A formula for determining need is based on the rules of the National School Lunch Act and the California Family Nutrition Act, he said.

Guidelines are precise but the district is reimbursed for the lunches. Income, including welfare grants, family size and number of students in school is part of the measurement.

Netzeley listed as eligible children from families: 1. — whose only income is from Families With Dependent Children, or from public assistance agencies such as Old Age Security, Aid to the Disabled, Aid to Blind, etc.

2. — receiving food stamps or federally donated food but not receiving public assistance.

3. — not on welfare and whose gross monthly income is at or lower than the following levels: In this category the lunches are supplied free. Family monthly income

1	$160
2	$210
3	$260
4	$310
5	$358
6	$402
7	$444
8	$485

Add $40 a member over 8. While these families qualify for free lunches, those with income to 120 per cent of the scale will qualify for reduced prices. Reduced prices are 15c for the 35c elementary school lunch and 20c for the 40c junior high lunch.

Forms for assistance applications are available at the Education Center at 8025 Lincoln st.

Denial hearings will be granted when requested. Such arrangements may be made through the Asst. Sup. of Instructional Programs at the Education Center, Netzeley said.

Van Deerlin Raps Defense Dept. For Premature Labor Cutbacks

WASHINGTON — Short-sighted policies in the Defense Department are forcing the premature layoff of hundreds of government workers in the San Diego area, Rep. Lionel Van Deerlin, D-San Diego, charged Wednesday.

The San Diego Congressman noted that the federal civilian payroll in the area, around 30,000 at the beginning of 1969, has dropped significantly as the result of a recent round of military base closings and cutbacks.

"I cannot quarrel with the logic in reducing defense activities that are no longer really necessary," Van Deerlin said. "But I can and do take issue with the way these reductions are being made."

Staff investigators for the House Post Office and Civil Service Committee have found, he said, that most of the job cuts could be achieved through attrition — not filling some of the normal job vacancies that occur each year through retirements, resignations and deaths.

"Instead, many veteran employees have simply been fired," Van Deerlin said. In one of the largest such actions of the past year, the Pentagon ordered 932 civilian positions cut at the Navy Air Rework Facility at North Island Naval Air Station. The order specified that 504 of the 932, or well over half, would be "reductions in force" outright discharges.

"At the very least," Van Deerlin said, "many of the layoffs could be avoided by delaying the timing of the cutbacks to give employees a fair chance to find other federal jobs."

"The needless firing of these dedicated workers is both shameful and heartless. They have been treated as obsolete pieces of equipment, rather than long-term associates of what should be the most considerate employer in the land — the United States Government."

Van Deerlin said a wage grade bill approved earlier this month in differing versions by the House and Senate does offer hope for blue collar workers who manage to hold onto their jobs.

The bill would revise the system of setting and adjusting pay scales for the nation's 800,000 blue collar workers, whose wages lag about 16 percent behind other government workers.

Folk Group To Make Debut At Southwestern

Southwestern College ASO will debut a new folk singing group at a special College Hour Program Tuesday at 11 a.m. in Mayan Hall. The group, known as "The Sunshine Express" has a fresh, bouncy style that settles in between the Kingston Trio and the Rover Boys.

Their repertory ranges from authentic Irish songs to folk, blues and popular love ballads of the day. Each member of the trio is an accomplished musician and vocalist, capable of handling the most difficult solos.

Lead guitar is played by Paul Smith, who started his career studying classical violin. After several years, and while he was still a youngster, he was introduced to the guitar by his grandfather, who studied folk music as a hobby. Smith quickly settled into the field of folk music, and his previous violin training has given him a solid background to which to form his own particular style. He is also proficient on the bass and mouth harp.

Rhythm guitar, bass and banjo is handled by Bill Smith, younger brother of Paul. The younger Smith began his music study at an early age on the saxophone. While attending Southern Oregon College, Bill joined with brother Paul and started studying the guitar and bass. Natural progression and a love for Gaelic music led him to mastering the banjo.

The third member of "Sunshine Express" is Mike Buckley, who plays the 12-string guitar. Buckley is the son of an Irish immigrant, and provides a wealth of authentic Irish songs for the group to play and sing.
